

Trendall scopre il « Pittore de Santis »

Un nuovo ceramografo apulo è stato chiamato
col nome del direttore di « Magna Graecia »

Un omaggio del tutto eccezionale è quello che il prof. Arthur Dale Trendall, dell'Università di Canberra, ha voluto riservare al direttore di Magna Graecia. Con pensiero squisito, il Trendall ha chiamato col nome di Tanino de Santis un nuovo pittore apulo da lui recentemente identificato.

La scoperta, se così si può dire, del nuovo ceramografo ha preso le mosse dall'esame di una pellike apula a figure rosse recuperata quindici anni addietro, da Tanino de Santis, appunto, nell'area della necropoli sulle pendici del Timpone della Motta, in agro di Francavilla Marittima, e donata al Museo Nazionale di Reggio Calabria.

Successive indagini del Trendall hanno, infatti, con-sentito di accertare che in molti altri vasi, disseminati nei vari musei europei e non, è da riconoscere la mano dell'artista cui si deve la decorazione della pellike proveniente da Francavilla Marittima, del « Pittore de Santis », per intenderci.

I vasi più importanti finora rintracciati sono i seguenti:

a) PELIKAI: 1) Reggio Calabria, ex de Santis (cfr. figg.); 2) Berlino F 4126 - (a) donna seduta fra giovane e donna, sopra - due donne ed Eros; (b) donna seduta e giovane; 3) Benevento 358 - (a) donna seduta con phiale, giovane accanto ad una vasca, Eros volante sopra, (b) donna seduta e giovane; 4) Leningrado 1194 (Stephani 1393) - (a) donna e giovane, (b) due efebi ammantati;

b) ANFORE: 1) Bari 7767, da Ceglie T. 3 - (a) donna e giovane, (b) due efebi ammantati;

c) CRATERI A CAMPANA: 1) New York 49-94-3 - (a) donna e Satiro, (b) due efebi ammantati; 2) Lecce 749 - (a) donna seduta e giovane ignudo, (b) due efebi ammantati; 3) Vienna 4016 - (a) donna seduta e Satiro, (b) due efebi ammantati; 4) Matera 150069, Lo Porto, Mon. Ant. 48, tav. 60, 1/2 - (a) donna seduta con Satiro, (b) due efebi ammantati;

d) CRATERI A COLONNETTE: 1) Bari 7766, Iapiglia, p. 253, fig. 7 - (a) Eros fra due donne, (b) tre giovani ammantati; 2) Vienna 623 - (a) donna seduta ed Eros, (b) due efebi ammantati; 3) Zagabria 715 - (a) donna seduta, giovane ignudo, (b) due efebi ammantati.

Il Pittore de Santis appartiene al filone stilistico della cerchia del Pittore degl'Inferi. La sua produzione artistica viene data da Trendall, all'ultimo venticinquennio del IV se-

Queste nostre anticipazioni vengono ampliate e completate nella monumentale nuova opera del Trendall, attualmente in corso di stampa, nella quale si comprendano molti anni di ricerche e di studi sulla pittura vascolare in Magna Grecia, volti a delineare quella compiuta sintesi della storia della ceramica Italica che ancor oggi manca.

E qui è bene ricordare che lo studioso australiano è uno dei più profondi conoscitori della ceramica antica del nostro paese. Nel 1971, in occasione dell'XI Convegno internazionale di studi sulla Magna Grecia, gli è stata meritatamente assegnata la medaglia d'oro « A. R. Cassano »; in precedenza, aveva ricevuto, nell'Università di Pisa, il X Premio Internazionale « Galileo Galilei ».

Arthur Dale Trendall è membro della Society of Antiquaries, della British Academy e della Australian Academy of the Humanities, nonché socio dell'Accademia Nazionale del Lincei. E' anche Commendatore dell'Ordine al merito della Repubblica Italiana e dell'Ordine di S. Gregorio Magno. Tra le sue opere principali: Paestan Pottery (1936), Fruhitallo-tische Vasen (1938), Handbook to the Nicholson Museum (1948), Vasi antichi dipinti del Vaticano - Vasi italotti ed etruschi a figure rosse (1953-1955), Apulian red-figure vase-painters of the plain style (with A. Bibliography

Magna Graecia vol. 10, 1975, no. 1–2, pp. 3–4.

The De Santis Painter, named after the donor of the pelike from Francavilla Marittima (no. 298) to the Reggio Museum, is an artist of some importance. His earlier vases (nos. 294–6) are closely connected with those by the Painter of Louvre MNB 1148 in the treatment of the seated women; his more mature style is strongly influenced by the work of the Underworld Painter. Two large pelikai (nos. 297 and 298) may be attributed to him; they both have many elements in common (cf. the women bending forward over one raised foot, the upstanding curls on the youths' heads, the drawing of the women's drapery, the pattern-work); the seated woman on the reverse of no. 297 also provides a link with the earlier vases, both in the rendering of her drapery and in the open box in her l. hand, with the crossed rectangle on the inside of the lid. The flower held by the youth on no. 296 links it with no. 299.

Characteristic is the drawing of the youths' hair with the "flame-like" row of curls on the top of the head (cf. nos. 297, 302, 306–309) and on his later vases the small knot-like projection of the himation behind the neck of the youth to l. on his reverses (nos. 303, 307, 309).
